理 念 | Philosophy of our Program

世界を舞台に活躍する 真のグローバル・リーダーを目指して

Fostering Leaders of Tomorrow in an Increasingly Global Society

早稲田大学創設者・大隈重信が「東西文明の調和」を建学の精神を掲げてから130年余り。かつての「東洋」=アジア地域の発展は著しく、「西洋」諸国、特に米国との関係は緊密さを増すばかりです。「東西文明の調和」は着実に進行し、アジア太平洋地域は世界の政治・経済の将来を左右する重要地域として注目を集めています。当プログラムでは、この「アジア太平洋地域」への理解を深め、その発展を地球益につなげることができる人材を、時代が求めるリーダーと定義。国際社会において必要な知識やスキル、倫理観を兼ね備えた未来のリーダーの育成を目指します。

It has been about 130 years since Shigenobu Okuma established "Harmony between Eastern and Western Civilizations" as the founding principle of Waseda University. Since Okuma's days, Asia or what Okuma referred to as the "East" has seen significant progress and, in many respects, has come to share much with "Western" countries, especially the United States. Yet as the Asia-Pacific region has emerged, politically and economically, as the world's most dynamic region, the ideal of "Harmony between Eastern and Western Civilizations" has taken on fresh meaning and new challenges. This program defines a leader as a person who can function effectively in this new environment – a person with a deep understanding of the Asia – Pacific region and one who has the knowledge, skills and moral ideals that true leadership demands.

メッセージ Special Message from Program Director

早稲田大学の教旨である「模範国民の造就」、創設者・大隈重信の創立30周年記念式典における「一国の為のみならず。進んで世界に貢献する抱負がなければならぬ。」。本学では、その意を連綿と受け継ぎ、創立150周年に向けた中長期計画"Waseda Vision 150"においても世界の何処にあっても、どのような困難に直面しようとも自らの意思で周囲と連帯して状況を切り拓くことのできる知識と道徳的人格と勇気、さらには頑健な身体としなやかな感性を持った地球市民を育成することを本学の教育と研究の体制整備の原点としています。

本プログラムは、日本と米国、より広く言えば東洋と西洋の両方の歴史・文化・社会を熟知したうえで、国際社会において強いリーダーシップを発揮する人物を育成するプログラムです。そうした人物へと成長していく道のりは、決して安易なものではありません。自律的に試練や困難に挑戦し、ひとつひとつ着実に乗り越えていくこと、そしてその歩みを継続することが絶対的に必要となります。また、高いレベルに到達すればするほど、それに見合う他者への優しさ、弱者に寄り添う気持ちや社会への貢献も求められるものでしょう。

Compassion (他者を思いやり)、Cooperation (他者と協働し) Contribution (他者へ貢献すること)、GLFPは、この "3 C" の精神をもって、主体的に自らを高めたいと願う学生達が挑戦するに相応しいプログラムです。

Waseda University's mission statement which is "fostering of good citizens" and Waseda's founder Shigenobu Okuma's remark at the celebration commemorating the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the university was "one must have the ambition to willingly contribute to the world, rather than only to one's country." At Waseda University, this mind has been passed on from generation to generation uninterrupted, and "Waseda Vision 150," the mid-to-long-term plan for the 150th anniversary, states that the system development standing point of the University's education and research is to nurture global citizens with knowledge, moral personality, courage, a healthy body, and a flexible sensibility that can break through whatever difficulty one faces, at their own will, cooperating with others, wherever they are in the world.

This program, based on full knowledge of Japan and the U.S., or more broadly speaking, full knowledge of history, culture, and society of both Asia and the West, nurtures individuals who demonstrate strong leadership in the international community. Growing to be such a person is by no means easy. To challenge hardships and difficulties autonomously, to steadily overcome each of them, and to continue to grow is absolutely necessary. The higher level in life one reaches, the more they are required to have kindness to others, to be able to think about the weak, and to contribute to society.

GLFP is a program suitable for students who wish to excel on their own initiative with spirit of the "Three C's" which are "Compassion (have compassion for others)," "Cooperation (cooperate with others)," and "Contribution (contribute to others)."

The objective of this program is the nurturing of true global leaders who, among other qualities, could respect and honor a diverse range of value systems. In addition to the one-year of study abroad that is a part of the program, a special curriculum is organized for the periods before and after that year, giving this program its most notable feature, its continuation over four whole undergraduate years. Future leaders that exhibit outstanding leadership in the international community are fostered, as students with various academic and cultural backgrounds gather together and engage in discussions.

でシカゴ大学という環境から得られるものを最大限に吸収できたと思う。

During my time at UChicago, I enrolled in courses spanning various disciplines such as political science, philosophy, and sociology, all centered around the examination of disparities from a Western perspective. Professors, diverse in racial backgrounds and experiences, emphasized the pervasive impact of the Western-created socioeconomic inequalities across the globalized world. As a top-tier institution producing societal leaders, UChicago faculty admonished the incoming generation of students, conveying the understanding that they too contribute to the creation of a stratified society and should never misconstrue their societal superiority. The professors exhibited robust intellectual prowess, pioneering unknown realms in research while fulfilling their responsibilities as effective conveyors of knowledge. Moreover, students, equally eager for learning, were conscious of delivering comments that got to the core while respecting their peers. Throughout my year at UChicago, I learned that essential learning goes beyond processing external information; it involves connecting that information with personal experiences and thoughts and effectively sharing it with others. Witnessing fellow students perform this essential learning instantaneously during class was often overwhelming. I occasionally envied their intellects and abilities, yet behind their brilliance, I observed their gritty, painstaking efforts. The library, always packed regardless of the time, housed individuals who, without arrogance about their abilities, tirelessly honed their already extraordinary talents through persistent effort. GLFP gave me this unique opportunity to study at UChicago. Surrounded by individuals with exceptional critical thinking and humanity, I could maximize the benefits that could be derived from the environment.

GLFPで学んだこと

What I learned through GLFP

Haru Yuno

School of Political Science and Economics

GLFPの3年間を通し、与えられる学び・知識に貪欲たる姿勢を身につける ことができた。その背景には、留学中・留学後のカリキュラムでの一つ一 つの学びが繋がり、より深い知見を得ることができた経験がある。

留学先のワシントン大学は、STEM科目に強みを持ち、私自身もデータ サイエンスを重点的に学んだ。この経験で培った統計・データ分析スキ ルは、早稲田での専門である開発経済学を研究する上で大いに活かす ことができている。

留学後のプログラムでも幅広い学びの機会が与えられている。GLFPの 根幹は、国籍・出身・学問的背景や興味の全く異なる学生たちが、それぞ れの専門的知識や視点を活かして、一つのトピックを学び、議論すること にある。政治、経済、教育、物理と学生それぞれの学問的知識がそれぞ れ異なるゆえ、自分の学ぶ学問における常識が、他の学生の学問分野に おいては争論の余地があるとされることもあり、その逆もまた然りだ。 プログラムでの多様かつ好奇心に溢れた学生との議論により、自分の 専門を超えて幅広い事象に関する知識を身につけたとともに、自分自身 の専門に関してもより深い学びを得ることができた。留学中・留学後に GLFP生として培った学びに貪欲である姿勢を活かし、グローバルリー ダーとしていかに社会に貢献できるかを考えていきたい。

Throughout the three years of the GLFP, I have cultivated a voracious appetite for the learning and knowledge provided. This is rooted in the experience of connecting every single lesson learned during and after studying abroad, allowing for the acquisition of deeper insights.

The University of Washington, my study-abroad destination, specializes in STEM subjects, which is part of the reason why I focused my studies on Data Science. The statistical and data analysis skills developed through this experience have been greatly beneficial in my research in Development Economics, my major at Waseda University.

Post-study abroad programs also offer a wide range of learning opportunities. The essence of the GLFP lies in students from diverse nationalities, backgrounds, academic disciplines, and interests leveraging their specialized knowledge and perspectives to study and discuss a single topic. Given the academic diversity, what is considered common knowledge in one's field may be debatable in another, and vice versa. Engaging in discussions with diverse and curious peers within the program has not only broadened my knowledge on a wide range of topics but also deepened my understanding of my own specialization. Leveraging the voracious attitude towards learning cultivated as a GLFP student during and after my study abroad, I aspire to consider how I can contribute to society as a global leader.
